

YEGGS LOOT CLOVERDALE POST OFFICE

POST OFFICE AND STORES ARE LOOTED DURING THE NIGHT.

THE MONON SECTION TOOLS

Three Blow Open Safe at Post Office And Get $100. Blast Is Heard.

Bandits visited the south Putnam town of Cloverdale Monday night and made their getaway nearly $200 richer. The post office safe was blown open and $150 in cash was taken. The silver change at the King, Morrison & Foster auto sales room was also taken and the A. R. York store was entered but Tuesday morning Mr. York reported that he could find nothing missing.

Tools used in forcing open the door to the post office were obtained by the bandits at the Monon railroad section house at Cloverdale. The noise caused by the blasting of the post office safe was heard by Miss Mary Gilmore, who stays at the home of Mr. Helfer, and also by Will Morrison.

These two gave the alarm but before others were informed of the explosion the thieves had left. Donna Denny postmaster at Cloverdale, informed E. R. Bartley local postmaster of the robbery and Mr. Bartley in turn notified Sheriff Ed Eiteljorke who spent Tuesday morning investigating in Cloverdale and vicinity.

Some were of the opinion that due to the fact that the bandits did not take the money order forms along with the money at the post office this would indicate that the robbery was "pulled" by amateurs or "local men." However, it is possible that experts were on the job but became alarmed by the noise of the explosion and grabbed the money and hurried away knowing that an alarm would be given.

"Upon his return Sheriff Eiteljorke made public the following report to the Daily Banner:

"Between $150 and $160 in cash taken from the post office. About $30 taken from cash register at King, Morrison & Foster. Big safe damaged but not opened. Overcoat valued at $30 stolen from York's store, also $5 in money, $1.50 watch and some merchandise.

"The interior of the post office was a complete wreck and government men were to take charge of the case Tuesday afternoon."

"The sheriff stated that part of the money stolen from the Cloverdale post office was box rent money and was in gold currency. It is believed the safe was blown open while a Monon train was passing through the town thus deadening the noise.

"The combination of the Big safe at the King Morrison & Foster sales room was 'jimmied' and could not be opened by officials of the company Tuesday morning. The silver in the cash register was taken but the register was not disturbed. Instead of pressing down on one of the keys, the bandits forced open the drawer of the cash register and as a result it was ruined. When they entered the building the thieves opened all the windows and doors to prepare for a quick getaway if necessary.

"Federal authorities at Indianapolis were informed of the robbery and postal inspectors were to go to Cloverdale during the day.

"A bull dog at the York store was killed by the bandits while they were looting there.

"The sheriff said he could find no clues but he would not permit the wrecked safe to be touched in the post office as the government men may be able to obtain some finger prints which will lead to the arrest of the guilty parties.

LAND OWNERS BOOST PRICES

It is reported that the promoters of the proposed state park and artificial lake in the corners of Sullivan, Greene and Clay counties, between Jasonville and Hymara are up against the "ghost" of high prices for much of the real estate that will have to be purchased before the park and lake to be taken under state supervision becomes a reality, says the Lincoln Citizens.

It is said that several persons who own real estate inside the proposed park limits are demanding four or five times as much for their property as is listed for taxation. One particular instance is cited where a resident owner's land and buildings are assessed at $800 on the tax duplicates in the county where his property is situated. When approached and asked for a price on his property he told them that he would sell for $4,500. Others, it is said, are about as wild in their demands.

Already there is talk of condemnation proceedings and the "right of eminent domain" may be invoked.

COOLIDGE ASKS FAIR U. S. PRESS

PRESIDENT TALKS BEFORE NEWSPAPER EXECUTIVES AT NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, April 26, (UP)—President Coolidge's speech at the 20th anniversary dinner of the United Press Associations here last night, in which he defended his administration's policy abroad and presented his view of conditions in Mexico, Nicaragua and China, and regarded by political observers today as one of his most important and far reaching pronouncements of recent months.

The President, addressing an audience of 1,000, made up in large part of newspaper executives from coast to coast, pleaded for a fair, American press, and criticized newspapers which he said attempted to inflame opinion against foreign nations and also those which unjustly criticize the administration for defending American lives and property in foreign lands.

The President, Mrs. Coolidge and their party arrived in New York at 6 p. m.

Mr. Coolidge paid tribute to the United Press Associations, whose growth, he said, was typical of the tremendous expansion in the gathering and distribution of news in recent years.

"The gathering and distribution of news," he said, "have long ceased to be a local and individual occupation. They have become identified with great organizations, having their representatives in all parts of the country and their publications in every important center. This service could only be performed by a mutual exchange of the most inclusive nature. Now rapid and complete has been the growth of these organizations is exemplified by the United Press, which is now celebrating its 20th anniversary. In that short space of time, it has spread far and wide over north and south America and become an instrument of both National and International publicity."

Charles Shildmyer is home from California where he spent the past several months. Miss Lula Shildmyer, a sister, arrived home a few days ago, coming by train while her brother drove through. Mr. Shildmyer was on the road exactly three weeks from the time he left Ingleside, Cal., until he arrived in Greencastle. Ed. Brockway, another local man, was with him but stopped over at Terre Haute for a short visit before coming here. Mr. Shildmyer came by way of Denison, Texas and up through Oklahoma to St. Louis and thence east on the National road. He reports some high water but states he was not in the worst section of the flood area in the west.

WORLD WAR DIARY OF A LOCAL BOY

On the night of March 2, 1918, the Huns sent over another gas attack, followed by a raiding party but a guard in our lines shot the leader and the rest turned yellow and ran back to their trenches. We were glad the enemy did this for we were needing rest.

On March 6, Lt. John R. Graham, of the British Army, joined our company and I had to guide him up to the front line through a solid barrage. We had to crawl and wade mud and water waist deep through a hail of machine gun bullets and how I ever lived to tell the tale, I don't know. Lt. Graham was later killed at my side on July 18, at Soissons where I buried him in a shell hole.

On March 10, a party of 65 men, including myself, raided the German lines back to the third trench, killed a few Dutch; found some valuable maps and papers and scampered back not losing a man. We were well protected by an American barrage but even at that I was scared green. Our casualties to date were 219 soldiers killed, wounded and missing.

On March 15, Sergt. McSwiggen, a buddy and I, while in a woods were bombed and shells dropped thick and fast. We ran faster, however, and finally reached a dug out, panting for breath. It was another close call as shells hit pretty darn close. McSwiggen was paler than any man I ever saw or expect to see. I didn't have a mirror to look at myself. He was later killed at Contigny.

On April 6, we arrived in Tria La Ville for a rest and here received new recruits who had to be drilled and trained for a couple of weeks. While here we had decent beds and eats along with a little fun, with only the thoughts of returning to the front marring our pleasure.

NAVY AIRMEN KILLED WHEN PLANE FALLS

ACCIDENT OCCURS AT LANGLEY FIELD, VA. NAVY REPORTS.

WASHINGTON, April 26, (UP)—Lieut. Commander Noel Davis and Lieutenant Stanton Hall Wooster, navy aviators, were killed at Langley Field, Va., in a forced landing in the water the Navy announced today.

They crashed at 8:30 a. m. today, while cruising in the plane in which Davis intended to attempt a trans-Atlantic New York to Paris non-stop flight soon.

The bodies were recovered, and are being taken to the Hampton Roads Naval Hospital.

A board of inquiry was appointed at once by Norfolk Naval authorities, and will commence an investigation of the accident immediately, according to the official message received here. Lieutenant Commander Davis was one of the two official entries for the $25,000 Raymond Orteig New York to Paris flight prize.

Other aviators have been preparing for the flight, but only Davis and Charles Lindbergh, airmail pilot, had satisfied the 60-day entry notice requirement, according to National Aeronautic Association announcement today.

The great airplane wrecked in the fall was a 3-motored land biplane built by a Bristol, Pa., commercial aircraft company especially for the trans-Atlantic flight. It was christened "The American Legion," at Mitchell Field, Long Island, two weeks ago.

Maj. C. J. Brown, army air corps, witness of the accident, sent the following account to the war department:

"The American Legion was taking off for a full load test and it took off on the long runway at Langley Field to the north.
"It ran along the ground for a long distance and finally got into the air, but apparently did not rise more than about 20 feet from the ground.
"The aviators crossed Back river beyond the base balloon hangar at Langley Field and apparently figuring that they would not be able to clear the trees made a right-hand turn to the east. The turn being nearly completed, the plane sank and crashed into the marsh on the north side of Back river. The left wing of the plane was completely demolished and the fuselage was buried in the mud up to the pilot's cockpit."

The local Moose Lodge, No. 1592 will meet in regular session tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to attend.

Severe artillery bombardment was exchanged yesterday and last night between Pukow, on the north bank of the Yangtze river, and Nanking on the opposite shore. PLANS MADE FOR ANNUAL M. E. ASSEMBLY

JULY 16 TO AUGUST 7 DATES FOR BATTLE GROUND CAMP.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 26.—Plans are rapidly being shaped up for the four distinct features which will go to make up the 1927 summer session of the Battle Ground Assembly, July 16 to August 7, eight miles north of Lafayette adjacent to the historic Tippecanoe battlefield.

At least two bishops will be on the program for the Bible conference, and other church notables will be on the assembly program which continues for a month. With the opening of spring weather, work is being done on the grounds, buildings and equipment, looking forward to one of the biggest and most successful seasons in history.

FLOOD AREA IS INSPECTED BY HOOVER

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE VIEWS DEVIATION FROM ABOARD STEAMER.

IS ENROUTE TO VICKSBURG

Hoover Sent by Coolidge to Make Survey of Flood Damage For Federal Government.

ABOARD THE GOVERNMENT STEAMER, CHISCA, ENROUTE TO VICKSBURG, Miss., April 26, (UP)—A picture of desolation and destruction passed before Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce and his flood relief commission today as the steamer Chisca moved down the Mississippi river toward Vicksburg.

Hoover, who was sent by President Coolidge to make a survey of flood damage for the Federal government, was in the midst of the region of greatest destruction today.

Greenville and other nearby Mississippi towns to points in lower Arkansas have suffered untold loss from the inundation.

A vast expanse of water, many miles wide in some places, spread out on both sides of the Chisca as it plowed its way through the muddy flood. Only tree-tops and the ridges of houses and barns were visible.

VICKSBURG, Miss., April 26, (UP)—The stream of flood refugees from the Mississippi river delta region continued pouring into Vicksburg in an endless procession today.

Additional territory is being inundated by the rise of the river to the south of here. It is believed that the actual crest of the flood has now passed Vicksburg.

South of Natchez the river is rising at an alarming rate, according to reports to engineers working with the Red Cross relief organization here.

Hundreds of motor boats patrolled the new flood danger districts, removing inhabitants to the safety of refugee camps. Large numbers were taken to towns south of Vicksburg that are safely out of the area threatened with inundation.

Governor Murphy of Mississippi and Gen. Curtis Green, commander of the Mississippi National Guard, remained here in constant touch with the flood situation.
